TECHNICAL/FUNDING RESOURCES

There are also other agencies which offer technical and/or financial help to communities.

Building Better Communities

Building Better Communities is a university-wide initiative designed to spur economic development and improve the quality of life in Indiana by matching Ball State's expertise with the varied needs of cities and towns throughout the state.

The Center for Economic and Community Development administers the Building Better Communities program, which is supported by funds from the Indiana Legislature. The center's staff promotes and coordinates the initiative on campus, fosters community partnerships, processes funding applications, maintains a database of projects, and conducts customized economic development projects for communities.

Madison County Community Foundation

Founded in 1992 by a core of local leaders, the Madison County Community Foundation today is a stable, trustworthy and permanent partner in efforts to sustain and improve our community. With assets at $14 million and growing, the Foundation annually returns hundreds of thousands of dollars to Madison County in the form of grants and scholarships. Our mission remains constant: to enhance the quality of life of citizens of Madison County by attracting charitable gifts, making philanthropic grants, providing responsible financial stewardship and community leadership.

PRIVATE FOUNDATIONS

Vectren Foundation

The purpose of our Foundation is to contribute to the well being of the communities in which we live and work. We annually apply about 1 percent of pre-tax income to fund the Foundation and corporate contributions. In fact, the Foundation contributed nearly $2 million to nearly 700 organizations in 2007.

The Foundation focuses its efforts in four major areas of giving;

Education, Arts & Culture, Civic and Health & Human Services.

Within these four areas of giving, the Vectren Foundation will pay special attention to those requests that promote energy efficiency and conservation among our customers and throughout the communities where we live and work.
